I am the above-named person and I live at the address given. I am employed as an investigator to the Commission of Inquiry into Historic Losses of land in Bermuda.

On Thursday 15th December 2020 I attended the Government Administration Building in Parliament street Hamilton where I spoke with archivist Karla Ingemann in relation to acquisition of a copy of the Parcel Index Map Leased Area St David's Island. Later that day Ms. Ingemann provided me with an electronic image of the map.

Subsequently I made arrangements for the image to be reproduced onto a backing board by Bermuda Blu Printing which I obtained from them on Thursday 14th December 2021. Later that day I again spoke with Archivist Carla Ingemann in relation to further acquisitions of the same map and was provided by her with a number of copies one of which was dated stamped and signed by her and copies made.

The Bermuda Air Base Bermuda Islands Parcel Index Map dated 15th March 1941 consists of a map depicting St David's Island from Stocks Harbour in the west to Great Bay in the east and the Ocean beyond; and documents all of the parcels of land expropriated on St David's Island. Each parcel is marked with a letter followed by a number. The letters and numbers correspond to those marked beside names listed in the box below the map. C1 to D1 describes a number of small islands listed as being owned by the Bermuda Colonial Government.

The letter D describes all individual property ownership with the exceptions of D1 and D 89 which are listed as being owned by the Colonial Government.

D 66 describes a parcel of land to the north of Annie's Bay on the map and lists the approximate acreage as 0.20 and owner as Solomon T J Fox.

Three properties are identified with the letter W followed by a number and indicate individual property ownership.

The total number of Parcels of land expropriated from St David's Islanders is 114. In addition, six parcels listed as those owned by the Bermuda Colonial Government bring the total of those listed on the map to 120 parcels.

D 66 describes a parcel of land to the north of Annie's Bay on the map list the owner as Solomon T J Fox.
